$100 Reward.

RANAWAY from the subscriber at Tallahassee, about the 30th July last, a negro man named about 35 years old, light complexion for a negro, 5 feet 8 or 9 inches in height, stout made, cross eyed, lame in one leg, occasioned by a burn when small, a piece of one ear cut off, (believed to be the right) has a small foot, and a down look when spoken to. It is possible he may have obtained forged papers for the purpose of passing as free. All persons are forbid harboring him under the severest penalties of the law.

The fellow originally came from the neighborhood of Deep River, North-Carolina, and was sold to me by Gen. John Brahan, of Huntsville, Alabama. I am inclined to believe he has shaped his course to North-Carolina, and that he is somewhere in that state at this time. I will give the above reward for said negro Essex, if delivered to me at Demopolis, Murengo county, Alabama, or to Major R. Lewis, Tallahassee; or fifty dollars for his apprehension and confinement in any jail in the United States, so that I can obtain him. Any information by letter, addressed to Maj. R. Lewis, Tallahassee, Florida, will be thankfully received.

Resolution.

Requesting the Representatives and instructing the Senators in Congress from this State, to use their influence to have returned to the State the $19,940 which she has paid to the Indians for reservations sold by her in the several sales she has made of the Cherokee lands ceded to her by the United States; and also to obtain an extinguishment as soon as practicable of the Indian title to the balance of the lands in this State upon which a part of the Cherokee Indians now resides.

AN Act for the better regulation of the Committee of Finance in the county of Cumberland, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of North Carolina, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same: That it shall be competent for the Committee of Finance of the county of Cumberland, from time to time, to make and adopt such rules and regulations, as to the manner of keeping and rendering the accounts of the public officers of said county, liable to account to, and with them, as they in their discretion may deem meet and proper: and said public officers, on being served or furnished with a copy of such rules and regulations, shall, and they are hereby instructed and directed to respect and obey the same: Provided always, that any or all of such rules and regulations, may, by the Court of said county, a majority of the acting Justices being present, be altered, amended or repealed, in whole or in part, as such Court may dictate and prescribe.

And be it further enacted, That hereafter it shall be the duty of the Clerk of the Superior Court, and the Clerk of the Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions, of Cumberland County, in a Book by them respectively to be kept for the purpose, to make and enter a list, containing a true statement of the names, and the allowances made to the Jurors, and to the Constables or other Officers attending said Courts, specifying the items and amount of such allowances, and the aggregate thereof, at each and every term of said Courts respectively; and further to make and deliver to the Committee of Finance, within ten days of the close of each term of said Courts, a true copy of said lists.

And be it further enacted, That the Book kept by said Committee of Finance, containing a register of their proceedings and copies of the accounts by them settled with the public officers of said county—shall be, and is hereby declared to be the property of, and a record of said county, and (except when in use by the said Committee of Finance,) shall be, with the original of the accounts therein contained, and the vouchers thereto belonging, placed in the custody of the Clerk of the Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions.

And be it further enacted, That it shall be competent for the Committee of Finance aforesaid, to make and adopt such rules and regulations as to time, and by whom, claimants of debts due by said county, (those for Jury services, or on account of the Poor excepted) shall be paid: such rules and regulations being subject to alteration, amendment or repeal by said Court, in manner and form as herein before prescribed, and further that all acts or clauses of acts, giving to the [illegible] Deputies power to take up such claims, or that directs the Clerk of the County Court to enrol or list the same; or that come within the meaning and purview of this act, be, and they are hereby repealed.

And whereas, it operates as a serious grievance, and loss to many of the good citizens of said county, that the pay allowed them as Jurors, is protracted long beyond the time of service; for remedy whereof, Be it enacted, by the authority aforesaid, that it shall be competent for the Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions of the county of Cumberland, at their session first to happen after the first day of January next, a majority of the Justices of the county being present, if they deem the same expedient and proper, to increase the tax to pay Jurors, then to be laid, to double the sum it now is—and to anticipate the said tax by a loan or loans, so as to provide that payment can be made, at, and after the expiration of that term of the County Court, and each and every term of the County and Superior Courts of said county thereafter to happen: Provided always, That if the Court do not avail themselves of the power to increase said tax, at said term, the Court shall ever after be confined to their present limitation of the tax aforesaid.

Be it further enacted, That this act shall be in force from and after the ratification thereof.

Raleigh, January 5.

Our Legislature adjourned on Wednesday last, after a session of 45 days, in which were passed 36 acts of a general nature, and 113 for local objects.

Perhaps the most important act of the session is that providing a fund for establishing Common Schools throughout the State, in compliance with the injunction of our Constitution, which provides, "that a School or Schools shall be established by the Legislature, for the convenient instruction of youth, with such salaries to the masters, paid by the public, as may enable them to instruct at low prices." And though the funds at present provided may not be sufficient completely to accomplish this object, they will enable a future Legislature to commence the operations of the plan. Owing to the thinness of our population, in some parts of the State, a School cannot be conveniently carried to every man's door, yet, Schools may be formed in every neighborhood where the population is sufficient to make one desirable, and by this means the benefits of a common English education will be spread, by degrees, throughout the community, the requirements of our constitution at length complied with, and the surest means will have been provided for the security of a continuance of the blessings of our free and excellent Republican Government.

The fund appropriated to the above object, is to be under the control of the Governor, the Chief-Justice of the Supreme Court, the Speakers of the Senate and House of Commons, and the Treasurer; and they are to be a corporate body, and to be styled "The President and Directors of the Literary Fund."

This act is of such an interesting nature, that we shall procure a copy for publication in our next paper.—Register.

It will afford pleasure to the benevolent to learn, that preparatory measures have been adopted by our Legislature to establish a Lunatic Asylum. A Resolution was entered into at the late session, declaring that it is expedient to establish and endow an Institution of this description, and Bartlett Yancy and John Stanley, Esqrs. were appointed to collect information and report a plan, with an estimate of the expenditure, for carrying the object of the Resolution into effect.—Ib.

The bill for the establishment of a Medical Board, we hoped would have become a law. It passed the House of Commons by a large majority, but was rejected in the Senate. We trust it will meet with a better fate, should it hereafter be brought forward.

Ib.

Committees of the Senate.—The following Letter, which we copy from the Franklin Gazette, has been drawn forth, probably, by some severe strictures, which have appeared in another Philadelphia paper, on the selection of the Committees of the Senate, for the present session. The letter is written in so frank and conciliatory a spirit, that we have pleasure in copying it:—Nat. Int.

Extract of a letter from a friend now in Washington.

"You will perceive by the appointment of committees in the Senate, that Vice President Calhoun has so distributed the business as to place scarcely a single member on more than two Standing Committees. The arrangement was, as nearly as could very well be, upon the basis of that of last session, when the Senate elected the committees, little alteration having been made; and wherever it was made, it was evidently done with a view to the better distribution of the subjects presented to Congress among the members, and not with reference to the political feelings of gentlemen. The Committee of Foreign Relations last year, consisted of Mr. Barbour, of Va. now Secretary of War, Gen. Jackson, resigned, Mr. Macon, Mr. Seymour, and Mr. Elliott, of Georgia. Mr. Macon, being the next member after Gen. Jackson on the committee, at the preceding session, was, according to usage seldom departed from, made Chairman by the Vice President, at this session. Mr. White of Tenn. successor to Gen. Jackson, from the same State, was put on the committee in his place. Mr. Tazewell, colleague of Mr. Barbour, was put on in his stead. Mr. Gaillard, who had not been on any committee last year, was appointed in place of Mr. Elliott, resigned; and Mr. Mills in place of Mr. Seymour, who was arranged on two other committees. To have strictly pursued the rules of succession, Mr. Berrien, of Georgia, who voted against Mr. Clay, as Secretary of State, would have been appointed instead of Mr. Elliott; but Mr. Gaillard, who voted for Mr. Clay's nomination, was appointed on the committee by the Vice President. Such are the facts; and those who know the character and standing of the members of the committee of Foreign Relations in the Senate, as well for patriotism as talent, will not think the nation disparaged by the selection. Mr. Macon, and Mr. Gaillard, are among the wisest and most experienced members of the able body to which they belong. Mr. White, Mr. Tazewell, and Mr. Mills, are known to the nation at large as men of distinguished talents. It would be a national misfortune if any state of things could make it necessary to throw such men into the shade. How could the Vice President, with common propriety, have said to Mr. Macon—venerable, no less for Senatorial wisdom and distinction, than for age and long service in the National Councils, "You are not fit to be chairman of the Committee of which you have so long been a member, and of which you are entitled, from usage, to the head: You are an enemy to the Secretary of State: And I must, therefore, place at the head of that committee some friend of the Secretary, less qualified, less experienced, less entitled, than you, to occupy the station." Such a course as this would have justly been deemed an insult, not only to Mr. Macon, but to the Senate itself. The Vice President, however, has too much solid understanding and dignity thus to treat the distinguished body over whose deliberations he was so unanimously called by the nation to preside.

He has deemed the selections made by the Senate itself, when it elected the committees, as the best indication, so far as they could be followed, of the most suitable basis upon which they should be constituted: And if, in this delicate and correct discharge of his duty, he has appointed members not devoted to the Secretary of State, the fact has arisen, in a great degree, from the previous organization of the Senate Committees, and from the propriety of selecting members best fitted, in his judgment, to manage the subjects committed to them."

APPOINTMENTS

By the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Nicholas Biddle and Manuel Eyre, of Pennsylvania; Joseph W. Patterson, of Maryland; Victor Dupont, of Delaware; and Campbell P. White of New York; to be Directors of the Bank of the United States for the ensuing year, dated 26th December, 1825.

United States Bank.—The United States own seven millions of dollars stock in the U. S. Bank, which is now at 114 per cent. Next month the dividend, by a forced operation, may be two and three quarters per cent. and next July we doubt whether any dividend will be declared, it being understood that their speculations in bills of exchange have left them minus. Query—Ought not the government now to sell at 114, a stock which will not give them 5 per cent., instead of creating a loan at the same rate of interest at per value? For seven millions, they can now realize nearly eight millions of dollars. Take the average of interest accruing to the government from their stock from the commencement of the operations of this bank, and we doubt whether it exceeds two per cent. A heavy defalcation at New Orleans will not aid the annual dividend much.

More Stops.—The Niagara and Plattsburg banks have closed doors, or rather vaults. They were both struggling with difficulties. Whose turn comes next is not known.—Ibid.

Census of Boston.—The following is an abstract of the late returns of the population of the city of Boston, made out from the returns and laid before the City Council, by the City Marshal. The whole number of white males is 27,911, white females, 28,453; colored males, 974; colored females, 943. Total 58,281.

Great Calamity.—It is our [illegible] describe, for the information [illegible] readers, one of the greatest [illegible] has befallen our Borough since [illegible] ting scene of 1815. On Wednesday [illegible] about 7 o'clock, our Citizens were [illegible] by the alarm of fire. The flames [illegible] discovered to burst with great [illegible] the sides and roof of the Large [illegible] owned by Messrs. Mabry & Dupuy [illegible] of their Store on Old Street [illegible] minutes, notwithstanding the [illegible] tions were used, caught a number [illegible] lar buildings adjacent. At this [illegible] the wind, previously from the N. [illegible] ged to the North-East, and [illegible] crease in violence as the flames [illegible] In a little time no less than [illegible] were on fire, and presented a [illegible] tacle indeed—a stream of [illegible] illuminated the Heavens to the [illegible] of the horizon; and large [illegible] innumerable cinders and sparks [illegible] served coursing the air for [illegible] thousands of yards. Never [illegible] such a sight presented to our [illegible] ed to be a combination of [illegible] our destruction: a storm of [illegible] panied by a shower of fire! [illegible] apprehensions were entertained [illegible] houses on the lower part of [illegible] ket Streets; but contrary to [illegible] tation, the building that first [illegible] the wooden tenement one door [illegible] foot of High Street, occupied [illegible] Messrs. Mays and Nausteder [illegible] ceeding up on both sides a [illegible] distance. Next it took the [illegible] longing to Mead's Tavern, [illegible] ern House itself on Old Street [illegible] ing the Street, a number of [illegible] burnt on both sides.

In all about forty buildings [illegible] ed. Those of the better kind [illegible] part were insured. The principal loss consists in Groceries [illegible] &c. stored in the Lumber [illegible] impracticable as yet to estimate [illegible] the amount. In the hurry of [illegible] good deal of furniture, etc. was [illegible] ken or misplaced—among others [illegible] the Editor of the Republican [illegible] terials thrown into such a state [illegible] that he finds it out of his power [illegible] paper this morning—for which [illegible] doubtless a simple statement [illegible] will afford an apology altogether [illegible] tory to the public.

From circumstances, there is [illegible] entertained that this scene of [illegible] destruction was the work of some [illegible] cendiary, as reckless as wicked [illegible] thor as yet has eluded discovery [illegible] trust in the justice of Providence [illegible] him into open day, that he may [illegible] punishment due to one of the [illegible] crimes.

The Legislature adjourned [illegible] Thursday evening last, after having [illegible] about 140 acts, besides a number [illegible] tions, mostly of a local nature. Harden, and also [illegible] Polhill, on the 15th inst., both [illegible] the powers of the General Government [illegible] were not afterwards called upon [illegible] A report was made by the proper [illegible] and adopted, in support of the [illegible] by the Governor in defence of the [illegible] ty, and entering the solemn [illegible] Legislature against its annulment.

Kentucky.—We learn that [illegible] ture of this State adjourned, on [illegible] teenth instant, without any [illegible] adjustment of their disagreements [illegible] questions of moment on which [illegible] Some excitement had been created [illegible] discovery of arms deposited in [illegible] public offices, it was supposed [illegible] force the decrees of the old [illegible] Committee of the House of Representatives [illegible] had made a report to that effect. [illegible] sult of the session is, that things [illegible] actly in statu quo, and, in the [illegible] the Jury having returned a special [illegible] there is to be a new trial at the [illegible] before another Jury.

Mr. Beauchamp, accused and [illegible] the murder of Solomon P. Sharp, [illegible] amined at Frankfort, on the 18th [illegible] before a Justices' Court, and [illegible] trial, on strong evidence. It is [illegible] in addition to other circumstances [illegible] Sharpe recognizes his voice as [illegible] that of her husband's murderer.

The National Intelligencer [illegible] terday, presents a more imposing [illegible] than any paper we ever saw. It [illegible] on a sheet so large that we were [illegible] take its dimensions. OBSERVER.

FAYETTEVILLE:

THURSDAY MORNING, JANUARY 12, 1826.

All the useful information in relation to the proceedings of the Legislature during the latter part of the session, will be found on the preceding page. We shall next week publish the act creating a fund for the establishment of Common Schools, which we rejoice to find among the few measures of general interest which successfully claimed the favor of the Assembly. We have no hesitation in saying that it is the most useful act of the Legislature for many years past; for, though the appropriation of funds is not great, yet it is a beginning, which we cannot doubt will be followed up by other and more liberal appropriations.

Sunday the 8th instant, being the anniversary of the glorious victory of New-Orleans, that important event was celebrated on Monday last, by the Battalion of Artillery and the Fayetteville Independent Company of Light Infantry, in a style and manner worthy of the occasion, and highly creditable to themselves and the town.

The Masonic Hall, which was politely granted by the officers and members of the Lodge for the purpose, was fitted up for a Ball Room, with a display of taste and elegance which almost forbids an attempt at description; and the satisfaction and admiration expressed by all who witnessed the effect produced by the brilliant illumination and splendid decorations which the Ball Room exhibited, justify us in pronouncing it the grandest spectacle ever presented in this place, and reflecting the highest praise on the taste and judgment of those who were engaged in its design and execution.

The south end of the Ball Room was occupied by the arms and ensigns of the Battalion of Artillery, forming a semicircle on the east and west, from a transparency prepared for the occasion, which was surmounted by a handsome Portrait of the venerable WASHINGTON, supported by two Standards, which formed a festoon around the picture—in rear of them, in dark and heavy folds, was seen the starspangled banner, intermingled with evergreens, which extended around the whole room. The North end of the Room was appropriated to the Arms and Ensigns of the Fayetteville Independent Company of Light Infantry, arranged in form similar to those at the opposite end, and the centre occupied by a large and elegant mirror, over which was arranged in a tasteful manner, a beautiful flag, surmounted by swords and musical instruments, highly burnished, which gave a fine effect to the whole. From the centre of the vaulted room were extended, in different directions, the stars and the stripes of our national flag, forming a most appropriate and elegant canopy to the fair, whose beauty has ever been protected and defended under it—while around the room the walls were decorated with Pictures descriptive of national events, and with appropriate and corresponding devices and military ensignia—we were struck much with the judicious and beautiful arrangement of military caps and plumes, heightening the effect of the muskets, which dazzled the beholder with their lustre.

We again express our inability to do full justice in description of the scene—a greater display of beauty, taste, and fashion, we never witnessed; and as to the decorations of the Ball Room, brilliantly illuminated as it was, no language we can use can convey an idea of the effect it produced.

The Supper, furnished by Mr. Jordan, was of a piece with the rest of the arrangements. A larger or better supplied table was, probably, never set in Fayetteville.

On Tuesday evening, the Ball room was again thrown open, to afford those who did not attend the Ball an opportunity of witnessing what every one so much admired. Even on this second occasion, the room was filled to crowding.

Olden Time.—The first European settlement in North Carolina was made at Roanoke Island, in the Summer of 1585, two hundred and forty years since. In 1730, one hundred and forty-five years subsequent, and ninety-six years ago, Dr. Brickell, who published a Natural History of the then Colony, made an excursion towards the mountains, and says "he travelled fifteen days without meeting with a human being." The population of the State may now be computed at 650,000.

The subject of greatest moment which at present engages the attention of Congress is the bill to amend the Judicial System of the United States. This bill has already undergone several day's discussion. It proposes that the Supreme Court of the United States shall hereafter consist of a Chief Justice and nine Associate Justices, and provides for the appointment of three Additional Associate Justices of said Court.

That the seventh Judicial Circuit of the United States shall hereafter consist of the Districts of Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois; the eighth Circuit, of the Districts of Kentucky and Missouri; the ninth Circuit, of the Districts of Tennessee and Alabama; and the tenth Circuit, of the Districts of Louisiana and Mississippi.

It repeals so much of any act or acts of Congress, as vests in the District Courts of the United States in the Districts of Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Mississippi, Alabama, and Louisiana, the powers and jurisdiction of Circuit Courts, and provides that there shall be hereafter Circuit Courts for said Districts, to be composed of the Justices of the Supreme Court, assigned or allotted to the Circuit to which such Districts may respectively belong, and of the District Judge of such Districts.

Our State Legislature having adjourned, we shall be able to commence a more regular and full account of the proceedings of Congress, in our next.

Notice.

I AM desirous of selling for Cash or accommodation paper at Bank, the very pleasant and healthy place (not one of my family, white or black, having died or been sickly for 9 years past) on which I reside, 2 miles below Fayetteville on the stage road to Wilmington; it contains 210 Acres or more, with a comfortable Dwelling House, a Brick Spring House and Store Room, over a spring in the yard; together with all other necessary Out-houses, an excellent Garden, with a Branch running through it, now very fertile, in fine order and handsomely arranged, and the Farm, I am persuaded, will bear inspection, and as such, I invite purchasers to examine for themselves. All I will say is, that though it is well situated and improved, so convenient to the best Market Town in the State, a good Brick Yard and a comfortable and healthy residence, yet desirous of moving to Tennessee, I would sell a great bargain. Also, would sell the Furniture, Stock of all kinds, among them, some of the Northern Breed of Cattle, and Oxen; a first rate Saddle Horse, a Sulkey Horse and two or three strong plantation do.—And also, about 100 Acres of Land, 1 mile south of town, an elegant healthy situation for a family residence, commanding a handsome view of Fayetteville. For Terms, apply to D. Hay, or myself,

25 Dollars Reward.

RANAWAY from the Subscriber, on the 29th day of December last, a negro man named Simon, about 27 years old, 5 feet 7 or 8 inches high, dark complected, heavy made; a scar on his head, one near his left eye, and one on his neck. He will no doubt endeavor to pass for a free man, and make for some free State. When apprehended, a few days ago, some forged free papers were found on him. He again made his escape, and will probably attempt to get to Milton or Fayetteville, for the purpose of going off in some boat. The above reward will be paid for the delivery of said negro to me, or for his confinement in any Jail so that I regain him. JOHN F. BURNETT, Jun.

An error corrected.—Professor Vanuxem, in his late Report to the Legislature of S. Carolina, of a Mineralogical and Geological Examination of some of the districts of that State (which is comprised on half a sheet of paper) says, "the collection of minerals and rocks, which will better enable the members of the Legislature to judge of the merit of an undertaking, the first instance of the kind among the States, is now ready for inspection at the college."

To shew that this was not the "first instance of a Geological Survey among the States," we observe, that in the year 1823, our Legislature passed an act directing a Geological Survey of North Carolina; that Professor Olmstead, of our University, was shortly after appointed to effect this object, and has published the results of his researches, in Parts I. & II. in octavo pamphlets.

Professor Olmstead having lately accepted of the appointment of Professor of Mathematics in Yale College, Professor Mitchell, of our University, who succeeds him as Professor of Chemistry, is appointed to continue the Geological Survey of the State, until every part shall be thoroughly examined.

The Judiciary.—The House of Representatives yesterday entered seriously on the discussion of a measure, whose importance is magnified by the obviously imperious necessity for some such measure, but which is intrinsically sufficiently interesting. In our whole political system, there is nothing more valuable than the Judiciary, by the aid of which, whilst the powers of the Government are asserted, the rights of the several States, as well as of individuals, are upheld and maintained. A creature of the Constitution, it is of posterior birth to it, but, of creation so soon following it, that the Judiciary Act of 1789 is almost as sacred as the Constitution itself, and should be approached with nearly the same reverence. That Act, as Mr. Webster justly remarked yesterday, is worthy of admiration as a system formed at a single effort. It is as admirable as a legislative act, as the Constitution is as a body of organic law. It is obvious, however, that the dimensions of the body politic have swelled beyond the limits of the System established at the commencement of the Government, and that, to use a homely figure, the old coat wants letting out. This is precisely what is proposed by the bill now before the House of Representatives, which we should be happy to see passed into a law. We need not invite attention to the exposition of the views of the Judiciary Committee, by its Chairman; for they can hardly fail to attract universal attention.—Nat. Int.

Off with his head!—A Court Martial of officers of the 11th Regiment of the Tennessee Militia have decided that the course taken by LEWIS RENEAU, Esq. who it will be recollected opposed his single negative against the nomination of General Jackson, as a candidate for the presidency in 1828 by the Legislature of Tennessee, merits their disapprobation. *Balt. Horrible Drought.—A writer in the Maryland Advocate says he understands, that the drought on the Muskingum River, in Ohio, has been so great, that the graziers in that country have been compelled to take their cattle IN BOATS to the falls of the Ohio, to have them watered.

Sheridan's Life.—The reading world have a great treat within their reach. We mean in the Life of Sheridan by Moore. The volume contains nearly six hundred pages, and yet an intense interest is kept up through the whole work. It is, we believe, a most faithful picture—not a tame one, but a portrait from the pencil of Guido of one of his favorite artists. Sheridan's name, and character, in its outlines, are familiar to all; but the particulars of his life had not been told us except through a few humorous anecdotes and distorted tales. It is now minutely given by a master. No restlessness is shown to vindicate where he should blame—no puling regrets over follies and indiscretions—but his virtues and his faults are given fairly and fully. Such a work is useful to delight, to instruct and to warn.

Among many other evils that attend gaming, are these—loss of time; loss of reputation; loss of health; loss of fortune; loss of temper; ruin of families; defrauding of creditors; and, what is often the effect of it, the loss of life itself.

POETRY.

FROM LATE LONDON PAPERS.

"Forget me not;" a Christmas Present for 1825. Ackerman, London, price 12s. A work recently published.

THE CHOICE.

Now take thy choice, thou maiden fair,
Of the gifts thy lovers bring:
The one has brought thee jewels rare,
The other flowers of spring.

The maiden saw the rubies glow,
And wreathed them in her hair;
But heavy they pressed upon her brow,
Like the weight of secret care.

The gems that bound her forehead high,
Might have lighted a diadem;
Yet pale grew her cheek and dim her eye,
Her heart was not with them:

And ever an inward pulse would stir,
When she saw a spring flower wave;
But never again did they bloom for her,
Till they bloom'd upon her grave.

She was borne to her grave, with purple pall,
And scutcheon, and waving plume;
One follow'd—the saddest one of all—
And threw flowers over her tomb.

North Carolina Telegraph.

THE Editor of the North Carolina Telegraph gives information to all concerned, that he expects the publication of his paper to commence the first week in January next. Those persons holding subscription papers are requested to make returns of Subscribers' names, at the farthest, by the 15th of December. Papers directed to the Post Office in Fayetteville, by private conveyance or by mail, will will be duly attended to.

The Editor would do injustice to his own feelings not to express his warmest gratitude, for the liberal encouragement he has already received. If any thing were wanting to confirm his conviction of the necessity and importance of such a publication, the patronage he has received from all classes of society and from every part of the State would certainly do it.

It is hoped that all who wish to possess the paper from its commencement will immediately send in their names, either by giving them to those who have proposals, or by leaving them with any Post Master who will forward them. The present expectation is, to publish in pamphlet form, containing 16 pages a week, making a volume of 832 pages a year; so that those who take the work from its commencement, may file away for future usefulness a greater mass of religious, political, and literary intelligence than can, perhaps, be collected in any other way, with so little expense.

Ministers of the Gospel throughout the State are requested to make known to their congregations the anticipated commencement of this paper, and to encourage all who wish to subscribe to do it without delay.

It is believed that if those who have already taken a deep interest in this object were respectively to exert their influence a little farther, that a subscription sufficiently large would be obtained to ensure the continuance of a Journal so much needed. Upon this influence the Editor confidently calculates, and promises his best exertions to meet the public expectation.
